Dear [REDACTED]

I refer to your e-mail of 10 April 2019 to Sharon Bodeker requesting the following information

How often have parking wardens been checking the park which is for freedom campers at night in central Dunedin?

Response: The Thomas Burns carpark has been patrolled nightly since it opened to freedom campers (1/11/18). These enforcement patrols are carried out by Armourguard Security on our behalf.

During the period of December to the end of April we have also employed Community Rangers to provide camping education/information at freedom campsites including Thomas Burns. These visits generally occurred in the early evening. Community Rangers are not warranted officers and do not issue infringement notices.

What times of day?

Response: Enforcement officers patrol between 1 am and 4 am so it is obvious that people encountered are overnight camping

How many tickets have been issued for camper type vehicles?

Response: Only 2 infringement notices have been issued at the Thomas Burns carpark since 1 November 2018.

How many have been paid?

Response: One has been paid, and we are awaiting payment for the other. A reminder notice has been sent.

Regards
